COUGAR BASEBALL HISTORY

Cougar baseball is almost as old as Washington State University. Classes met for the first time Jan. 13, 1892, and in March of that year the students organized a baseball team. It is only natural that baseball should have been the first organized sport at WSU, since at the time the University was founded the game was immensely popular all over the country.

The 1995 season marked a special celebration in Cougar baseball history. It was the 100th year WSU had fielded a baseball team. Following the first season, 1892, play was discontinued and did not resume until 1896. After another brief interruption from play in 1897, baseball became a regular on the sports menu and has been played every year since 1898.

The first game played by the first Cougar team is recorded as a 26-0 win over the Pullman Military College on March 12, 1892. The military school was located on what is now known as "Military Hill" in the northwest part of Pullman. The school was destroyed by fire in 1893.

Captains, chosen by the players, ran the early Cougar baseball teams. Between 1892 and 1900 the Cougars won 21 games and lost nine without benefit of a regular coach.

H. E. Lougheed is regarded as the first official baseball coach at WSU. He served between 1901 and 1903, and his teams won 24 games while losing 18. Since then, the school has had regularly assigned coaches, some of them football coaches putting in time between seasons, and in the World War I years of 1916-20, athletic director J. Fred "Doc" Bohler took over the task.

Baseball really came of age at WSU with the appointment of Arthur B. "Buck" Bailey in 1927. Buck came to Pullman with football coach Orin E. "Babe" Hollingbery in the fall of 1926. A famous football player at Texas A&M and Bethany College and the captain of the West team in the first East-West Shrine Football Game ever played, Bailey also was a baseball player of note. From 1927 to 1942, Buck coached Hollingbery's line during the football season and ran the Cougar baseball program in the spring. He took three years off during World War II, then returned to boss the diamond teams here from 1946 until his retirement in 1961.

Bailey was baseball and baseball was Bailey at Washington State. Buck gave the Cougars their most consistent winner in any sport, and he did it with such flair that Washington State was almost as popular on the road as at home. In 32 seasons, Buck's Cougars won 11 Northern Division titles and finished second an equal number of times. His greatest team—the 1950 squad—posted a mark of 32-6 and finished second in the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska.

When Bailey retired in 1961, one of his finest players returned to Washington State to take over his squad. Chuck "Bobo" Brayton, three-time All-Northern player and twice captain of the Cougars in the 1946-48 era, when Bailey's teams won two Northern Division titles, succeeded Bailey at Cougarville. Brayton coached at Yakima Valley College after receiving his degree at Washington State in 1950, where he became WSU's first baseball All-American for his play at shortstop in 1947. Brayton continued the winning tradition at Washington State, becoming the winningest coach in WSU athletic history, surpassing the legendary Bailey.

When Brayton retired in 1994, he did so not only as the winningest coach in WSU history with 1,162 victories, but as the fourth winningest baseball coach in the history of NCAA Div. I play.

In January, 2000, the home of Cougar baseball was re-dedicated in honor of both Bailey and Brayton. The complex is now known as Bailey-Brayton Field.

Don Marbut is the third coach to direct WSU baseball fortunes since Brayton's retirement. Marbut took over in 2005 after one year as a Cougar assistant and four years as the head coach at Edmonds Community College. The Portland State graduate (1997) was 152-38 and his Titan clubs won two State community college titles.

Steve Farrington (1995-2000) succeeded Brayton after an outstanding career at Lower Columbia College. Tim Mooney (2001-2004), after a great 14-year run at Albertson College, took over for Farrington and spent four seasons at WSU before resigning after the 2004 season.

Washington State draws more fans to its games than any other conference team. Crowds average between 1,000 and 2,000 on the weekends of important conference games. Bailey Field was relocated in 1980, giving WSU one of the finest collegiate baseball facilities on the West Coast, complete with seating for nearly 3,500 fans and an electronic scoreboard. A $250,000 lighting project was completed during the 1984 season. In 2004 FieldTurf was installed throughout the field giving WSU a nearly-rain proof facility. The only dirt in the field is home plate and the pitcher's mound.

COUGAR BASEBALL HISTORY

In 1950 there were no aluminum bats, and baseball was played the old-fashioned way with wood and leather. College baseball was not a marquee sport, but that year it permanently placed its name on the sports map by moving the College World Series to its present site in Omaha, Neb.

Fifty years later in 1999 at Rosenblatt Stadium in Omaha, the College World Series celebrated its golden anniversary. The University of Miami outlasted Florida State University for a 6-5 victory in the title game to give the Hurricanes their third national championship. Joining in the festivities at the 50th College World Series in Omaha were players from the first title game in 1950, featuring the University of Texas and Washington State University.

Former Cougar players Bob McGuire, Clayton Carr, Gene Camp, Sonny Galloway, and Leland Dolquist, along with Cougar coaching legend Bobo Brayton and former Athletic Director Rick Dickson, returned to Omaha to help celebrate the 50th anniversary of the College World Series.

RECORD SETTERS/TOURNAMENT HISTORY

At the conclusion of his four-year Washington State career in 2006, outfielder Jay Miller had established himself as the Cougars all-time leading hitter with 307 career hits. Miller's accomplishment not only broke Mike Kinkade's (1992-95) 11-year old record of 304, but is marked the ninth-best hits total in Pacific-10 Conference history. Entering his senior season the native of Bellevue, Wash., had shown his consistency with three straight seasons of at least 72 hits. His senior year, however, proved to be his finest. He hit .361, leading the team with 88 hits, fifth all-time at WSU, and 28 doubles. His doubles total led the Pac-10 and was third nationally. He capped his final season by being named a third team All-American by Collegiate Baseball Newspaper and was a 17th round draft pick by the Philadelphia Phillies.

CASEY KELLEY SHATTERS SCHOOL HOME RUN RECORD

In 1998 junior Casey Kelley (Ellensburg, Wash.) etched his name into the record books with a Washington State and Pac-10 North record 25 home runs. The record mark broke John Olerud's 1988 record of 23. An amazing fact is 20 of his 25 long balls sailed to left field, his opposite field. Kelley finished ranked third nationally with .51 home runs per game and was named a third team All-American by Collegiate Baseball. Kelley went onto play first base in the California Angels (Anaheim) organization.

WASHINGTON STATE TRADITIONS

THE COUGAR HEAD LOGO

In 1936, student Randall Johnson, class of 1938, designed the original Cougar head logo for Washington State College. It was used on the side of college trucks. In 1959, when the institution changed from college to university, he re-created the logo to incorporate the "U" in place of the "C." In 2002, WSU developed a new graphic identity. It employs the Cougar head within a crest, an internationally recognized symbol for higher education.

THE COUGAR NICKNAME

Washington State University students officially adopted the nickname "Cougars" October 28, 1919, three days after a reference to "cougars" was used in a football game story following WSU's upset 14-0 win at California. In the story, a Bay Area writer said the Pacific Northwest team "played like cougars" in upsetting the Bears.

THE VICTORY BELL

In the late 1800s, the victory bell was mounted on the ground in the center of campus; it rang to start and dismiss classes in those early days. Today, it is located at the Lewis Alumni Centre. A member of the Student Alumni Connection rings it after a WSU football win.

WASHINGTON, MY WASHINGTON

(WSU Alma Mater)

Washington, my Washington, The Crimson and the Gray!
'Tis the songs of memory That we sing today.
When the sad hours come to you And sorrows 'round you play,
Just sing the songs of Washington, The Crimson and the Gray,
Just sing the songs of Washington, The Crimson and the Gray!

Written by J. DeForest Cline, 1914

WSU FIGHT SONG

Fight, fight, fight for Washington State!
Win the victory!
Win the day for Crimson and Gray!
Best in the West, we know you'll all do your best.
So on, on, on, on! Fight to the end!
Honor and Glory you must win!
So fight, fight, fight for Washington State and Victory!

Written by Zella Melcher (lyrics) and Phyllis Sayles (music), 1919

THE COUGAR MASCOT

In 1927, Governor Roland Hartley presented a cougar cub to the students of the University. This first cougar mascot was called Butch, to honor Herbert "Butch" Meeker of Spokane, who was WSU's football star at the time. Butch II was presented to the students by Governor Clarence D. Martin in 1938. Butch III and IV were twin cubs, presented by Governor Arthur B. Langlie in 1942. Governor Langlie presented Butch V in 1955. Butch VI, the last live mascot on campus, died in the summer of 1978. He had been presented to WSU by Governor Albert Rosellini in 1964 from the Seattle Zoo. Today, WSU students in a "Butch the Cougar" mascot costume rally school spirit at athletic contests, including football games and other events.

The road from high school baseball to the Major Leagues is long, usually winding, and full of detours. But for many, the gate to the professional fields seems to open easier when Cougar Baseball has been a part of the trip.

Take former Cougar John Olerud for example, Toronto plucked him out of WSU's program in 1988 and rather than send him to the minors for instruction on the basics, they sent him right to the parent club. Olerud, who was the college baseball player of the year in 1988, went straight to the top.

Olerud won the American League batting title in 1993 and was the starting first baseman for the Blue Jays when they won the 1992 and 1993 World Series Championships.

But Olerud, who retired following the 2005 season isn't the only example of Cougars to have success in the pros. The list (to the left) of former Cougs who went on to the Major Leagues numbers 39, with most of them a product of the last 30 years.

The latest includes Mike Kinkade, Aaron Sele, Scott Hatteberg and Mark Hendrickson round out the former Cougars who played in the majors last year.

Tampa Bay's Mark Hendrickson played both baseball and basketball for the Cougars, then went to the NBA and MLB.
